✿ FREDA MARCUS RIP

It is with deepest sorrow that we must inform members that we have lost yet another long-term London League member Freda Marcus. She was weeks away from her 98th birthday.

"I last played Freda when she was 94. Although her memory was failing, she still played a good game of Scrabble. On one such occasion I made the mistake of playing QUIZ next to the triple word row, thinking that Freda might not know the hook, but she went in straight away with SQUIZ and took the triple score. That certainly taught me!

Freda was always a gracious host with a welcoming personality, I would like to convey my condolences to her daughter and wider family."

"I was fixed to play at Freda's virtually every month. It was a pleasure to visit and enjoy her hospitality of raisin toast and tea in tea cups. A very talented lady whom I will remember very fondly. An inspiration for me to live life no matter how old we are."
